

LAYERED LUXURY Carly Pokornowski Moeller of Unpatterned Design created two different bedrooms at opposite ends of the design spectrum. Above, an unexpected feature wall with Harlequin wallpaper from Style Library anchors a layered bedroom in neutral tones with a pop of plum in throw pillows. Nightstands from Bungalow 5 at Michael-Cleary. At right, a Mediterranean-inspired master suite in a North Side bungalow has a cozy corner reading nook and a bright and cheerful bath. Moeller brought in shades of blue throughout because of her clients' love of the water, sailing, and European seaside towns such as Positano, Italy. In the blue and white tiled bath, fixtures by Brizo provide the spa shower experience. In the reading nook, Roman shade and pillow fabric by Schumacher are inspired by ancient Greek key patterns.

STREAMLINED The original design for this home on Chicago's North Shore by Thomas Sarti Girot Interiors and Orren Pickell Building Group, had to be completely reconstructed after a devastating fire. The original sink wall in the kitchen looked into a playroom, but the owners' children were older and so that wall came down, opening the kitchen to a new informal sitting room. A modern mix of painted white and high gloss red cabinetry from Wood-Mode created a bright, contemporary space. The Super White Quartz perimeter cabinetry has a clean line recessed panel, and the homeowner wanted a splash of color in the space so the designers matched Benjamin Moore Heritage Red for the island. The custom hood is wrapped in Calacatta Gold marble. Appliances include Best (ventilation), Sub-Zero, Wolf, and Miele.

LIKE VELVET Designer Paul Ozga of New Space Architects designed this modern, minimalist kitchen in a new Northfield home. What sets this kitchen apart is the Velvet-Touch finish—clear coat applied to paint for added texture—on the slab door-paneled cabinets and millwork by New Style Cabinets, adding a soft, tactile quality to the space. Refrigerator by Thermador; range and dishwasher by Miele. Photograph by Angelika Piatek.
